Placerville Republican

EL DORADO COUNTY'S ONLY DAILY NEWSPAPER

Partly cloudy tonight, Wednesday, light rain north ranges to high; slightly warmer.

CALLING LODI

Still no word on whether we won the Lodi tournament, which closed Sunday, and the El Dorado County fans seem to have adopted the attitude that no news is good news. At last reports, our county team was in first place by a margin of 24 points.

ON TO COLUMBUS

And here's the "onner" list, the six high men in the county bowling association, up to last Saturday night: William White, with a 180 average; Woolensock, 176; Emmett Collins, 174; and Jack Cummings, C. Crippen and Johnny Burcham, all at 173.

If you want to help boost that "On to Columbus" fund, find a bowler and sign up with him for a subscription to The Republican. A percentage of your subscription will go back to the bowling association to help pay the expenses of the Columbus trip.

PONY EXPRESS LEAGUE

The circuit is all bunched up, with the six teams tied for three positions, but they'll string out tonight because all of the ties are due to be broken.

St. Patricks and the Round Tent are going to decide who really holds first place. The Gene Morrisons and the Davenport are going to answer a few questions about third place, and if the Lions want to stay in fifth place, they'll have to beat the Standard Cokes.

Mrs. Charles Molinari was anxiously telephoning about the community Tuesday morning to locate her husband, who, it is well-known, is in the fuel oil and trucking business.

And what do you think was the matter?

The fuel tank at the Molinari home was empty and had to be replenished.

BERLIN CLAIMS NEW GAINS IN DONETS AREA

Nazi Reaction To Roosevelt Talk Varies From Ridicule To Violent Anger

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
U. P. Foreign News Editor

German armies pounded steadily at the long Russian front today, reporting new gains on the critical Donets sector, and Nazi propaganda spokesmen exploded with an almost unprecedented torrent of abuse directed at President Roosevelt.

The German high command today claimed capture of Kramatorsk, 50 miles north of Stalino, and said the Hungarian troops have swept into other Donets towns. The Russians admitted heavy fighting in the immediate vicinity of Kharkov which Berlin already claims. London said the Germans are 10 to 15 miles from Rostov. On the Moscow front the Russians were reported to be counter-attacking.

The German propaganda explosion was directed against Mr. Roosevelt's charges that Berlin has prepared detailed plans for construction of five "Vassal states" in South and Central America and for the elimination of organized religion in a Nazi-dominated new world order.

The initial reaction in Berlin to the Roosevelt charges was one of "the greatest amusement." A spokesman said that a "high point in Roosevelt fantasy" had been achieved by the chief executive and that the charges were the product of a "crazy, absurd imagination."

Hardly had this propaganda line been put out when the Germans switched signals. A second commentary was issued in which the line of ridicule was replaced by one of mounting anger. The Roosevelt speech was called a "conglomeration of suspicions, insults, slanders, forgeries and imputations."

Apparently Nazi anger mounted by leaps and bounds. A little later a third statement was made, couched in possibility the most violent language yet employed by Berlin in (Continued on Page Four)

Gala Occasion Fetes Past Presidents And Aerie Charter Members

Placerville Aerie No. 889, F. O. E., had a special occasion Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall, honoring past presidents and charter members of the aerie.

The evening opened with a buck stew at 6:30 o'clock and after that came a vaudeville entertainment and a meeting of the aerie in which past presidents were in the various chairs.

Arthur Mart, chairman for the evening, was in the president's chair. Joe Bernheim was junior, past president; D. W. LeBourveau was vice-president; J. G. Leonard, chaplain; Henry Lefevre, conductor and Rolan Dunkum inside guard, while Euell Gray and W. T. Henderson had special parts assisting in the initiation of a class of fourteen, many of whom came from Georgetown and vicinity.

Other past presidents and charter members were called upon for short talks and District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, a past president, spoke on matters of current interest.

The evening closed with refreshments and a social time.

4,287 GOVERNMENTAL UNITS IN STATE TAX STRUCTURE

Compilation Includes At Least 1,094 Special Districts; Gov. Olson Has Expressed Self As Favoring Reserve For Public Works Jobs

By JOHN W. DUNLAP

United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, (U. P.)—Should a person wonder why his taxes are so high, leaving out national defense for the moment, it might be stated that in California alone, there are 4,287 governmental units set up under the tax structure.

Included in the rather staggering total are the state government, 58 counties, 284 incorporated cities, 2,533 elementary school districts, 265 high school districts, 39 unified school districts, 14 junior college districts, and at least 1,094 special districts, the latter being hard to pin down because many do not report to any central office.

An interesting contrast exists between San Francisco and Los Angeles on this matter of tax bodies. The northern city, second largest in population, has the smallest number of governmental units for the entire state with only two. The city and county government is under one administration and the schools are in a unified school district.

Here is the lineup for Los Angeles, which has the largest number of units: 45 cities, 106 elementary, 20 high school, five unified schools, four junior college districts, and 209 special districts, making a total of 390 units of government.

The problem is simplified in five counties where there are no incorporated cities. Alpine, Mariposa, Mono, Plumas and Trinity. There are more elementary school districts than one would imagine, such as 140 in Fresno county, 106 in Los Angeles, 107 in Sonoma, 96 in Humboldt and 95 in Tulare.

The emphasis on taxes is acute right now, by virtue of the unusual aspect of the state deficit being wiped out in the backwash of frenzied spending for national defense and buying of domestic supplies before priorities are clamped down. There is a sharp difference politically on whether taxes ought to be reduced now, when the budget is balanced, or not at all.

Governor Olson has taken a firm stand against any reduction at this time, while there is a deficit. He expressed himself as favoring wiping out the red ink, then building up a reserve fund as a cushion against the time when there may be unemployment from stoppage of national defense work.

Then the governor argues that a 10-year building program should be undertaken, to put jobless men to work, take up the slack in production, and spend what ever reserve is built up. Public works, institutions, colleges, prisons and such structures have been neglected over a long period of time, particularly during the recent depression years. There will be a real need for expansion and new construction, the governor says, and it would be a mistake to lower the tax base too soon.

The state board of equalization split up over the issue, with William Bonelli and George Reilly believing the governor ought to call an immediate special session of the legislature to consider tax reductions.

Fred Stewart and Richard Collins differed, felt it should not be done hastily while there was still a deficit. Stewart further wanted a uniform reduction to benefit all taxpayers.

The governor says he is NOT inclined to call a special session. He would not be very wise politically to call a session under any circumstances, since his campaign for reelection might get jimmied if all his enemies came back to Sacramento at one time.

The governor remains mum on his plans for 1942 but it is significant that he is stumping the state vigorously, making speeches of one kind or another almost daily. He has seldom been in Sacramento in recent months, and his staff is split up among his three offices in Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

STATE GUARD AIR CORPS HAS DEMONSTRATION IN 'CHUTE PACKING

The El Dorado County squadron in the State Guard Air Corps, Lieut. C. W. Pearson commanding, had an especially interesting meeting on Thursday evening of last week, in the Superior Court room at the courthouse.

Captain Marvin Russell and staff, commanding the Second Observation Squadron, based at Sacramento, and to which the El Dorado County unit is attached, were in attendance.

Lieut. Anderson and staff, from the Sacramento Army Air Base at McClellan Field, were in attendance and demonstrated the manner in which parachutes are built, the way they are tested and packed, and the way they are repaired.

Leland Schneider was a caller in the county seat from Sloughhouse on Tuesday and Park Stark was showing him the sights.

Mrs. Margaret Ward and Mrs. Ruth Meyers were visitors Tuesday at Sacramento.

Wanna Buy A Duck? He's Not So Dumb

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., (U. P.)—A duck mistook a damp street for a pond and made a "crash" landing that left him dazed and slightly injured. Police gave him a home on the roof of the station and set out plenty of cracked corn. It was an easy living and the duck seemed content until this morning, when he flew away.

"Just a dumb duck," said the officers, but they changed their minds when the duck flew back a little later with four companions to share his corn.

State Game Farm Head Guest Speaker; Films On Propagation Shown

Lions named a committee of five on Christmas decorations in the business district, and had as their guest speaker August Bade, superintendent of the state game farm at Yountville, at their luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Raffles.

Mr. Bade, who was presented to the club by Lion H. P. Brown, was accompanied by C. L. Bender and other members of the state Division of Fish and Game, and used motion pictures of game propagation at the farm and elsewhere in the state as the basis for his talk.

The committee on Christmas decorations has Lion A. H. Murray as chairman, with Albert Simon, Ogden Hook, Don Goodrich and Frank Wudell as members of the committee.

Dr. L. B. Rantz and Herbert Anderson were named as the tail-twisters for November.

Mr. Bade said that the chukar partridge is an ideal bird for the foothill country and many of them are being released in this area. Pheasants, which have been planted for several years in the county, appear to be doing well.

Wild turkeys are well suited to most parts of the state, he said, and may ultimately be included in the propagation program.

The pictures of the work of the state game farm proved of special interest to the club and Lion Brown and Lion President B. E. Larson both expressed the club's appreciation to Mr. Bade and his associates for their visit.

Lion H. V. Jespersen had as his guest his business associate, J. R. Ryan, of Blackfoot, Idaho.

PRESIDENT CALLS FOR SPEEDY ARMING OF MERCHANT SHIPS; RAPS COAL MINE STRIKE

Chief Executive Cites "Menace" Of "Small But But Dangerous Minority" Of Leaders In Industry, Labor; Compulsory Mediation Suggested

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (U. P.)—President Roosevelt's emphatic statement that "the shooting has started" was spectacular notification today that the nation is moving beyond short-of-war boundaries into the field of limited naval hostilities.

America has been attacked, Germany fired the first shot, Mr. Roosevelt last night told his world-wide radio audience and the Total Defense and Navy Day diners who heard him in person at the Mayflower Hotel here.

His address revealing Nazi plans to abolish religion and to take over South America and parts of Central America, including the Panama Canal, seemed significantly to combine with a dramatic reminder that the dead and injured aboard the destroyer Kearny were the sons of many states.

The President called again last night for the speedy arming of our merchant ships, insisted that they must be free to carry munitions directly to British ports and promised that the navy would protect our shipping. The neutrality act has been "outmoded by force of violent circumstances."

Mr. Roosevelt was interrupted 12 times by applause but the big outburst of whoops and cheering came when he directly denied the right of President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America to shut down production in captive coal mines.

In 116 razor-sharp words, the five most significant of which were wholly extemporaneous, Mr. Roosevelt (Continued on Page Four)

POLICE READY FOR GOBLINS

"Have A Good Time, But No Rough Stuff," Ghosts And Brownies Advised

Placerville police are prepared for the Halloween season and anybody who gets beyond the limits of "fun" in their Halloween pranks may have an explanation to make.

Six officers and three cars will be on duty during the Halloween season. Chief of Police Ralph Jones announced Tuesday.

"Nobody objects to Halloween fun and we want everyone to have a good time, but we all ought to understand right from the start that when Halloween pranks get into rough stuff, the police will take a hand," the chief said.

The use of wax by Halloween pranksters will fall under the police ban as will also the marking of cars with wax, soap or any other material.

"Marking up cars may easily result in damage to the finish," the chief noted, "or may easily cause a wreck if the car owner finds his windshield smeared over and has nothing at hand with which to clean it."

"Under such conditions the natural impulse is to drive the car home or to some service station where the windshield may be cleaned, and with his vision obscured the driver may easily figure in a collision."

"There shouldn't be any need to outline what is and what is not fun; nearly everyone knows when he is doing damage, and that is where the police will draw the line on Halloween doings," the chief concluded.

GEORGETOWN SCOUTS GET CHARTER AT MEETING SATURDAY NIGHT

Boy Scouts of Georgetown gained official standing as a separate troop Saturday night when the troop charter was presented to the sponsoring body, the I. O. O. F. lodge, at Georgetown.

Under the guidance of J. H. Van Artsdalen, boys of Georgetown and vicinity have had Boy Scout training for more than a year past and since April have had a troop organization, but it was not until Saturday evening that their charter was instituted.

Presentation of the charter was made following a meeting of the lodge by William Liddicoet, a member of the district Boy Scout committee and chairman of the extension program, and the charter was received by William Breedlove, on behalf of the troop committee. A bean feed followed.

Scoutmaster Van Artsdalen has a troop of about seventeen Boy Scouts, who all ready have demonstrated that some other troops of the county will have to hustle if they stay ahead of the new Georgetown Troop in Scouting.

M. H. Wulff In Hospital For Crash Injuries

Friends of M. H. Wulff will regret to learn that he was seriously injured Saturday in an automobile accident near Woodland and is a patient at the Woodland Clinic.

The particulars of the accident are not known. Reports to members of Placerville Parlor No. 9, N. S. G. W., in which Mr. Wulff is a member, states that his daughter, Mrs. James Ramsey, is at Woodland to assist in his care.

Economic Crisis In Vichy Grows

"Collaboration" With Nazis May Result In Extreme Action In Winter

BY HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's future as chief of the French state is at stake in a deepening economic crisis resulting from French "collaboration" with Germany.

This picture was provided by authentic advice reaching the United Press today from sources on the European continent.

According to this information, French industry, commerce and agriculture has been geared so completely to the Reich war machine that little more "collaboration" can be expected—except some arrangement to allow France, as well as Germany, to benefit from the new set-up. So far, France has received virtually no benefits.

With minor exceptions, the information reported, those French industries which are working are working for German account. Meanwhile, German agents continue to scour both occupied and unoccupied France for food supplies and raw materials, shipping such vast quantities that France faces a winter of unparalleled suffering.

Economic repercussions of these developments, the advice said, may prove extreme in the next few months, particularly if the Germans continue to manipulate the flow of raw materials to French industry, artificially provoking industrial crisis to back up their demands to the Vichy government.

Petaim, himself, it was said, regards the situation as explosive. A combination of food riots and unemployment this winter, it was said, might well bring down the whole Vichy regime, including Petaim.

CHAPTER XXXI
"I'm sorry, Jimmie..."
"Who—who is it?" he stammered, misery in his eyes.
"Lieutenant Paul Rimini—the Marchese della Chiesa. He is the Comtesse's nephew—an officer in the Italian air corps. I met him last spring. Peggy gave me the information jerkily. Jimmie buried his face in his hands.
Finally, he looked up. "And—and you're sure you love him, Peggy?"
She lowered her eyes. "Yes..."
He paused. "It—it was he who arranged for my operation—in—induced the surgeon to perform it."
"I owe him a great deal," Jimmie said. "Are you marrying him out of gratitude? Is that it? Look at me, Peggy! Look me straight in the eye! Can you honestly tell me that you love him?"
Peggy raised her eyes and looked at him steadily.
"Yes, Jimmie—I do."
His shoulders sagged. "Well—I guess there's nothing more to be said..."
He stared at the ground, kicking at a tuft of grass with the toe of his shoe. "I guess it's good-bye."
Then, he looked up, squared his shoulders, and extended his hand. "Lots of happiness, Peggy," he said, forcing a smile.
"Thank you."
He held her hand for a long moment, then turned abruptly and strode away.
Peggy gazed after him. All her old love for him surged up within her. "Oh, Jimmie... Jimmie... her heart cried out. But her lips remained silent.
JIMMIE returned to the village inn with the intention of checking out at once. But just as he was about to enter the inn, he ran into Mr. Greer.
"Jimmie!" exclaimed the old man, in delighted astonishment. "What on earth are you doing on this side of the ocean? Then without waiting for an answer, he turned excitedly to call to his wife, who was loitering with the Comtesse before a shop window. "Molly! Here's Jimmie Meredith!"
Mrs. Greer came hurrying to greet him. Then, he was introduced to the Comtesse.
"... Mr. George Meredith—better known as Jimmie," said Mr. Greer. "A friend of ours—and Peggy's—from back home."
The Comtesse was looking at him with a strange expression in her eyes.
"A friend of Peggy's?" she murmured. "Does she know yet that you're here, Mr. Meredith?"
"Why—yes," Jimmie stammered. "I've just been out to see her."
"You must come out again," the Comtesse invited. "When the rest of us will be home. How long will you be here?"
"I just came over on a quick business trip," he lied. "Heard Peggy was down here, so dashed down from Paris to see her. I'll be going back—almost immediately."
"Oh, then you must come and dine with us this evening!" said the Comtesse.
She was still studying him with her shrewd black eyes. She had guessed that this was the boy Peggy had mentioned, and she wondered if Peggy had broken the news to him yet.
"Thank you," said Jimmie, reddening. "but I—"

WHAT'S WHAT AT A GLANCE

WASHINGTON - WORLD

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

LICKING Hitler is recognized by the state department as today's most important business. The department is at a deal of pains, however, to emphasize its opinion that licking him is no more important now than the job of fixing up the right kind of worldwide peace will be, after he's licked.

Sumner Welles

Secretary Cordell Hull's views as well as his own.
Secretary Hull's thesis during his whole career, in the house of representatives, the senate and the department of state, has been that it's a fatal mistake for nations to try for economic advantages over one another—bad for 'em collectively and, in the long run, bad for the nations, individually, that actually succeed in gaining seemingly, but inevitably temporary advantages in their own apparent favor.

That's exactly the doctrine that Undersecretary Welles is preaching at present. He remarks that it wasn't the prevailing international philosophy after the last war, though, and that, he says, is what made such a dizzle out of the ensuing so-called peace. And what he fears is that, at the current conflict's end, "special interests and pressure groups in this country and elsewhere again will selfishly and blindly seek preferences for themselves and discrimination against others."

Don't I know what happened in the late 19-teens and early 1920's! I was living in Latin America in those days, running an English-language weekly newspaper of my own. It was dependent upon local Yankee traders' advertising, and it had a lot of it, for the war had driven all the Latin's buying in our direction; they couldn't get their necessary imports from anywhere else.

HUGE U. S. RE-ARMAMENT PROGRAM WILL BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS BY PRESIDENT LATE THIS FALL

WASHINGTON, (UP) — President Roosevelt disclosed today that he shortly will step up America's tank production to double its present levels as the first move in a long-range plan to provide a reservoir of American machines and materials to defeat the Axis.

He emphasized that the tank program was being developed primarily for America's own armed forces rather than to meet lend-lease demands.

He said that although no figures may be given, the program goes even beyond the expansion figures outlined to congress by OPM Director William S. Knudsen, who envisioned an increase of medium tank production from 1,000 to 2,000 a month.

The President made clear that tank expansion was only part of a huge new program. Studies have been going on for two or three months to estimate as accurately as possible how many machines and materials will be needed, he said, and he expects to place this program before congress late this fall or at least by Jan. 1.

It might even go to congress in his annual message immediately after the first of the year, he said.

His obvious scheme's to head off any more Smoot-Hawleyism in advance. And he may succeed, because the last war and what followed it are recent enough not to be forgotten by large numbers of folk. Nevertheless, he's well advised to rub his idea in thoroughly.

There also is talk, here and there, to the effect that there mustn't be any revenge motive, on the democracies' part, at the next peace table, as undoubtedly there was, in the Allies' minds, at Versailles. International President Zeke Hopkins dwelt on this point at a recent Washington meeting of his organization, the Civitan club.

Distinction?
But what I ask is
Is it going to be possible for the democratic delegates at the next peace conference, supposing Hitler to be licked, to draw a distinction between Adolf and Germans generally? It's true, he isn't a German, but an Austrian. The Germans fell for him, though. Will the democrats be able to forgive 'em for that—to say, "The Germans are alright, Adolf's the only miscreant?"

I can imagine the Italians as being pardoned for Mussolini. But the Germans for Hitler? Oh, my! Indeed, if Adolf's licked, what'll be done with him, anyway? Will he be permitted to retire to some Doorn for the rest of his life? I've my doubts if he isn't disliked worse than Bill Hohenzollern was. Maybe the Germans themselves will attend to him.

Director Edward H. Bean of the Chicago zoo makes what perhaps is a constructive suggestion. He wants Adolf, to keep in the gorilla's cage at his zoo.

WANTED: substitute for advertising

Is there any cheaper way to make sales than by advertising?
If so, the people who pay for advertising today would like to know what it is.

After all, they are experts at bringing down costs. And that's what brings down prices.

The best proof that advertising is the cheapest way to find customers is — so many people use it successfully.

With ANN COMFORT

When cutting buttons of old garments, string them in sets of the same sized buttons, or run them on a large safety pin, and they will be ready for future use.

"Pride of the Mountains," — Georgetown used to be called and whether you see it in its broom-scented season or in its carnival of snow you agree that the name is suggestive of the town's winning grace. Those wide streets, the widest in the Mother Lode country, contribute something to the town's distinction. Many interesting stories of Georgetown have been written but it is in the files of the Georgetown Gazette indexed and cherished by Mrs. Maude Horn, that the marvelous annals of the place are to be found. Someday, it is to be hoped, these will be made available in book form.

Among the many pioneer homes is the Irish home, a roomy, friendly, green-shuttered house, of a model indigenous to the early period, simple, frank and in good taste. One of the first to live in this house was Captain Davidson who had sailed the Mediterranean in his youth and who used to tell of having seen George Washington when he was a very little boy. Captain Davidson taught penmanship, in the days before the typewriter was writing was something of an art. For a time the house was a home for elderly or infirm Masons with Charley Langley as a caretaker. At one time the house was owned by the Ward family. One of its tenants was C. H. Cromwell.

The western addition was made in the '80s when Colonel Dent, a brother-in-law of Ulysses Grant into the house. Twenty years before this while the Dents were living at Knight's Ferry, Ulysses Grant visited them and helped to design the covered bridge at that place. While in Georgetown the Dents were visited by Fred Grant, son of the ex-president. The Dents, who were southerners, gave a special fillup to Georgetown society in their day. Mrs. Irish remembers how young Dent would startle the grocer by demanding if "he had any flitch" when he meant plain bacon.

The Irishes are genuine pioneer stock. The original Irish house with its picket fence and quaint wooden lace cornice will have its own story. Mrs. Irish, born and reared in the Georgetown section, was a Hotchkiss. The story of how her parents crossed the plains which she tells with real dramatic interest belongs with the story of her sister Georgianna Hotchkiss Knox and the picturesque Shannon house nearby.

Collectors of pioneer recipes will be grateful to Mrs. Irish for her contribution of a recipe handed down in the Hotchkiss family. It is steamed fruit roll pudding but goes by the jolly name of:

Dog-In-The-Blanket

"When my mother made light bread," said Mrs. Irish, "and was making it into loaves, she would save a piece of dough and roll it out like pie crust in an oblong shape about a foot or maybe a little longer and width in proportion. It would be about twice as thick as for cookies. She would have dried fruit prepared — two-thirds apples and one-third pears stewed and seasoned with sugar and spice. She would spread the prepared fruit on the dough, leaving a margin of perhaps 1/2 inch all around the fruit which she would moisten. Beginning at one end, she would roll up the crust, pressing the moistened edges together, then she would place it on a buttered plate in an old-fashioned steamer over a kettle of hot water, starting over rather cool water so the dough would become light and steam it from 1 to 1 1/2 hours. It was served with cream and sugar or with a boiled sauce."

OMO RANCH NEWS NOTES

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall, who were recently married, surprised them at their new home Tuesday evening of last week. Many beautiful and useful presents were given the young couple. The house, being small, a bonfire was started outside which contributed greatly to the pleasure as well as comfort of the guests. Among those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bruner, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Reynolds, Bill McDonnell and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Liddicoet, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn DeMille, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Felmeley, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Jisner, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dorman, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Carlsson, Messrs. Jim McDonnell, Jim Arlette, Paul Monteth, "Happy" Williams, Fred Kubel, Leslie and Ray Baughman, Jack Berry and Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. Wetzel and Miss Mary Brown. A bounteous lunch was served after which both bride and groom made a compulsory speech from the dignified (?) position of a chair, after which the guests departed.

LOTUS NEWS NOTES

Gold Trail Grange held their regular meeting at the hall in Coloma last Wednesday evening. A small attendance was present. The meeting was called to order by the master. Reading of the minutes by the secretary after which general business was done away with, followed by refreshments served by the Grange ladies.

Ralph Levitt and wife of the Hangtown Antique Shop, Placerville, were calling on friends here Sunday evening.

The weather the past week has been quite cool, our first light rain came last Tuesday, October 21 and lasted all forenoon. Then we had another light rain on Friday during the late afternoon and evening. The highest the mercury reached was 74.

Curious to know how much more the garment would cost in Placerville, she went in to price it. The cost was exactly two dollars less than in Oakland. Not having the "over-head" that large city shops have, our local shops can afford to sell for less. Think this matter over before you decide to do your shopping out of town.

The president of the National Association of Hosiery manufacturers say that by Spring, women will be wearing rayon stockings. The new rayon is stronger, finer and more elastic than the old.

A suggestion for a Halloween dessert comes from Katherine Kerry:

Orange Charlotte
1 1/2 tablespoons of gelatine, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup California grown beet sugar, 1 cup orange juice and pulp, grated rind of 1/2 an orange.

Dissolve gelatine in cold water. Combine rest of the ingredients and when they come to a boil remove from stove and add gelatine. Chill thoroughly, when it is beginning to congeal beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until it is a light yellow. Fold in whites of 2 eggs stiffly beaten and 1 cup of whipped cream. Line a mold with lady fingers or slices of stale sponge cake and pour in orange mixture. Put in refrigerator until firm.

degrees on Wednesday and Thursday. There was another light rain Sunday evening.

Chester Dodge, salesman, and wife and Newton Grant of Coloma, Mrs. Clara Johnson and son Harry of the Webber Creek district, J. J. Brooks of Shingle and his son, Martin Brooks and Earl McKee of Berkeley, and Bob Johnson of Coloma were seen on our streets the past week attending to business and also sightseeing our town.

Everybody is talking about the what card parties—none this winter being given by Gold Trail Grange. We do not know if the Coloma Rebekah ladies will have any card parties or not owing to the federal tax of four cents on each card but we think they will start in soon and hold them every two weeks or once a month. Four cents tax is nothing on a 35 cent card when you can take home first prize, or any one of the prizes.

Ballard Stahlman, salesman for the large coffee and spice house of Chas. Grouch and Son, of Sacramento, spent Wednesday evening at the McKenny Mine and early on Thursday morning left for Grass Valley, Nevada City and other places.

Mrs. Violet Reasde took Leo Rasmussen and his wife over to El Dorado last Thursday after lunch and made a short visit with Dr. R. G. Hosking, an old friend, and his wife when the doctor was a resident of the bay city. From El Dorado Violet drove up to Placerville and the three spent some time in the county seat returning to Lotus toward evening.

After some ten days riding around Washington and Oregon and visiting with his brother, Ernest Herzog and wife, Herbert Herzog and wife returned to their home near Lotus Friday evening.

Bradford Dawson, wife and son of Richmond, and Henry Kane of Coloma were calling on Judge Rasmussen Sunday afternoon. Our old life-long friend, Henry Kane, celebrated his 86th birthday Monday. Henry was born near the Gold Discovery marker near the historical town of Coloma on the 27th day of October 1855 and is yet quite spry for a man of that age. May he live to see many more happy birthdays.

Mrs. Olive Thayer took Judge Rasmussen over to Placerville last Thursday and on Saturday last Harry Reasde took Leo Rasmussen and wife and her father, Ernest Fell over to attend to business matters and window-shop the town.

Since writing the above about no card parties we are informed that the Coloma Rebekah Lodge will give their second card party of the winter at their hall in Coloma on next Tuesday evening, Nov. 4th. Good prizes will be on hand for the lucky winners followed by elegant refreshments. All come out and help the ladies along.

CALIFORNIA FARM PARADE

By United Press

It looks like the long fight for guaranteed parity prices on farm products is about over. The last round of the battle started when the house agriculture committee approved a measure calling for government loans on major crops at the full 100 per cent parity level.

It's been eight years—since 1933—that farmers have been asking for prices equal to those of the pre-war period of 1909-1914. They'll have them if this new measure becomes a law.

Of course, recent advances have pushed prices on many farm products well past the parity mark. But the proposed 100 per cent parity loan would be a guarantee of prices at that level.

The problem of a shortage of farm machinery is getting some special attention from defense officials. Ever since the defense program got under way, there's been a slowing down of farm machinery production. The situation is getting so serious in some lines that the priorities board is going to try out a new plan.

Larger and more specific allotments of steel are expected. The agriculture department has been insisting for some time that, unless the shortage of farm machinery is taken care of, the needed increase in farm production won't be reached.

It isn't likely that farmers will need much urging to meet this increased production, if it's at all possible. Most of the need is for more meat and animal products and that is just where farmers are making the most money these days.

So far this year, farm income from the sale of meat animals is nearly 40 per cent higher than for the corresponding period last year. Livestock prices in mid-September were at the highest level since July, 1929.

According to economic experts, the current situation will seem a depression compared to the prosperity the farmers will enjoy in 1942.

For every dollar a farmer earned in 1932, they predict he'll get two dollars and 60 cents next year. A national farm income of $13,000,000,000 is forecast in 1942—over two and one half times the income 10 years earlier.

Deputy County Clerk V. H. Benson is confined at home for a few days with a back injury.

FRANK DAMES ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FOR EAGLES ANNIVERSARY DANCE

Frank Dames orchestra has been engaged to play for the anniversary dance of Placerville Aerie No. 889, F. O. E., at the Odd Fellows hall on Saturday night, November 1st.

In announcing the engagement of the music, the committee in charge pointed out that tickets are now on sale and also called attention to the fact that the net proceeds of the dance will be used to present the annual Christmas party for the children of the county at the holiday season.

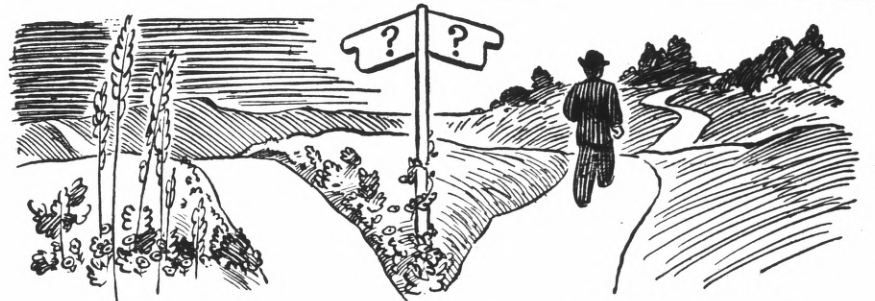

Admission to the dance, the committee announces, is $1.09 cents, with a federal tax of eleven cents, making the total of admission and tax $1.20 cents.

OPAL, the October stone

OPAL combines every shade of the rainbow in one stone. The Roman Senator, Nonius, preferred exile rather than sell his Opal ring to Marc Anthony for Cleopatra — Queen Victoria was especially proud of her opal collection. The false "unlucky" idea came from a careless reading of a Sir Walter Scott novel—but the discovery of black opals in Australia in 1902 stemmed the tide of this erroneous superstition. Most opals, both white and black, come from Australia today. The whites are still called Hungarian (name of the type) though mines in Hungary were exhausted in the 1880s—"black" or "Australian" opals, are those whose "body" color are anything but white (or near white). Mexican opals are quite transparent but of any body color. "Nevada opals" are "glassy," "brittle" type.

Ask LEO C. BURGER A Gem Expert

How's your judgment?

Your freedom isn't FREE. There's a price tag on it. You EARN the right to liberty by KNOWING how to vote, what to buy, which rules of conduct to favor.

How is YOUR JUDGMENT? Can you tell the difference between:

1. FACT
2. OPINION

This newspaper, and every newspaper, brings you both. For example:

1. Yesterday's weather report is fact.
2. Tomorrow's weather forecast is opinion.

Maybe you didn't LIKE yesterday's weather. Maybe you think tomorrow's forecast is going to be wrong and, for example, you can ignore the expert's warning. You are FREE to have your OWN OPINION. But if your judgment isn't good enough to let you separate fact from opinion and good enough to follow the SOUND opinions, you'll end up by buying all the gold bricks in the brickyard.

How to pick them

In this country of free speech, no one can hide facts very long. Your newspaper doesn't try. Look through it.

The battles, births, weddings, market prices, fires, meetings, crimes and ball games all HAPPENED—about as reported. They were FACTS, good and bad, but easy to check up and prove.

The editorials, the speeches, the claims and persuasions of this or that man, the name calling and the accusations—those are various peoples' OPINIONS, some right, some wrong, for you to accept or reject according to YOUR JUDGMENT.

Opinions can be either frank and open like a good sermon or an honest advertisement—urging you, in the light of facts as sincere men see them, to live a better life or buy a good product. Or opinions can be hidden and sugar-coated, as when an evil-intentioned person makes promises he doesn't intend to keep.

You might ask why this NEWS-PAPER doesn't decide for you whether certain opinions are right or wrong, and print only those IT THINKS are right. You might wish the paper would pick out only NICE FACTS to print.

But, Mr. Citizen, your paper hasn't any RIGHT to decide such things for all of you. The government hasn't that right in America, NO other person has.

YOU are the one who has the final right to decide between the good and the bad, the right and wrong. This right to your own opinion, backed up by your votes at the ballot box and by your choice of how to spend your own money, is what democracy is!

And God help this nation if your good judgment ever fails you.

In Germany, Italy, Russia, Japan, a government agency decides what the people shall read and hear. Not so in America. Do your part to preserve the American way of life.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

reacting to a Roosevelt speech.

That statement abounded with charges that the American President is "insane." An unnamed "high German personality" was quoted as comparing Mr. Roosevelt with the mad King Ludwig of Bavaria. It was suggested that Mr. Roosevelt would go down as the "greatest liar and fake in history."

The Germans did not indicate the exact motives behind their shifting propaganda line and unprecendented wrath. However, it appeared possible that it might stem from uneasiness over the reaction to the Roosevelt charges in such countries as Italy, France and Spain where Germany has attempted to make political capital of her assumed role as a defender of religion against "Atheist bolshevism."

Sharing attention with the address of Mr. Roosevelt in Germany was a statement by Nazi propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels in which he warned the Reich that hard months lie ahead despite the many victories of German arms.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET AGAIN ON NOVEMBER 27

The November meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society of the Federated Church will be held on November 27, at the home of Mrs. Martin Luther. All who are interested are welcome to attend.

This was the announcement at the October meeting, held Thursday of last week at the church parlors following a potluck luncheon. Visitors were present from Sacramento and Davis.

A very interesting meeting concluded with a playlet based on stewardship. The title was "Hands That Give." In the cast were Patty Land, and the Mesdames Luther, Thomas, Alquist, Carpenter, Rudkin and Eskew.

China—a meeting of great potential importance.

Tojo was said to have explored with the army leaders the possibilities of any formula for Japan's future in China which might satisfy both the United States and the army commanders. Some far eastern observers were inclined to believe the Japanese were keeping up conversations with Washington only until a strategic moment for action arrives.

President Hits Labor Strife

veld dealt with business and labor obstruction to national defense.

"Yes, our nation must speak from every assembly line — yes, from every coal mine," the President began but was interrupted by a burst of cheering at the interpolated reference to coal—"and in the all-inclusive whole of our vast industrial machine. Our factories and our shipyards are constantly expanding. Our output must be multiplied.

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of industrial managers who hold out for extra profits, or for 'business as usual.' And it cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of labor leaders (more cheers and shouts) who are a menace—for labor as a whole knows that the small minority is a menace—to the true cause of labor itself (more cheers) as well as to the nation as a whole."

Forced Mediation Seen

WASHINGTON, (UP) — Chairman Elbert D. Thomas, D. Utah, of the senate labor committee suggested today some form of compulsory mediation for defense labor strife, following President Roosevelt's denunciation of a "dangerous" minority of labor leaders as a menace to the nation.

The coal strike entered its second day today, with Lewis having made no answer to Mr. Roosevelt's third appeal for production to be continued pending new negotiations arranged for tomorrow between Mr. Lewis and Myron C. Taylor of U. S. Steel Corp. The captive mines produce coal for exclusive use of the major steel companies.

2 FROM COUNTY ON STAFF OF PEAR BUREAU IN PROMOTION WORK

SEATTLE — Enthusiastic support by the Philadelphia fruit dealers for the Oregon-Washington-California Pear Bureau sales program in that city is reported by Roy Webster, eastern sales manager, to E. R. Pooley, president-manager. At the fifty-first annual Philadelphia Grocers' Food Show and exhibit of home appliances, which was recently held there, fruit dealers came down and helped the pear bureau representatives pass out samples of Bosc and Anjou pears.

With six field workers employed, in addition to Webster, eastern sales manager, the Oregon-Washington-California Pear Bureau is now running its eastern promotion program full steam ahead in the winter drive to increase the sale of western grown men and one woman.

A pear grower from Placerville, California is Richard "Dick" Patterson, now starting his third year for the pear bureau. He has had outstanding success in Tennessee and Georgia, promoting pear sales, but will be stationed in New York this year, conditioning pears for auction in that city.

Lee Veerkamp, who owns a pear orchard in Placerville, California, is now in his second year on the road for the pear bureau. Boston will be his territory this year where he will condition pears for auction. With successful participation in seven great eastern food shows, the Pear Bureau representatives have yet to set up their show of winter pears at the Florida State Fair in February, Webster reports.
